

General and Arizona News.

A slight earthquake shock was felt in Kingman last week. No damage was done.

The bubonic plague is breaking out in spots at wide distances apart. From Portugal to Paraguay is a far cry, but the malady, after appearing in Hong Kong and Calcutta, has shown up in both countries.

Ex-Governor F. A. Tittle has been appointed supervisor of census for Arizona. His commission reached here yesterday says the Journal-Miner, and has been forwarded to him in the east where he has been for some time.

An unknown man was found hanging to a tree in the Mariposa canyon about fourteen miles from Nogales. The body had evidently hung there for a couple of months. No clue to the man's identity could be found.

It is not generally known that Arizona has the most liberal corporation laws in the United States, and that even the liberal laws of New Jersey, which are now being extensively patronized in the east, are not a circumstance compared with those in Arizona.

The district court at Phoenix is as usual grinding out its annual grist of water cases, which proves conclusively that water in that section is very scarce, and that people are willing to risk everything for the sake of getting an occasional soaking.

Enterprise: W. J. Nichols, captain of the seventh cavalry and acting Indian agent at the San Carlos agency, has issued notice to all parties having cattle or horses on the San Carlos Indian reservation, upon which grazing tax has not been paid, that such stock must be removed from such reservation on or before October 1st, 1899.

The Los Angeles Times says that a recent arrival from Alaska states, as a sober fact, that the climate of the frigid northwest will restore hair to the baldest head that ever sat in the front row of a leg show. If this be so, the hairless men of this nation owe a debt to the memory of Secretary Seward that they will never be able to pay.

The University of Arizona at Tucson opened Sept. 20 with the largest registration in the history of the institution. Its faculty numbers sixteen. Additional dormitories are under construction. The causes of the rapid growth are largely due to the administration of President M. M. Parker, formerly of Pasadena, and reasonable dormitory accommodation, costing the student for board and room but $15 a month.

Mr. Bryan declared in 1896 that it would be impossible to have higher prices and good times under the gold standard. Yet we have higher prices and good times, the best we ever had, under the gold standard. That Mr. Bryan was honest in his belief, does not change the fact that he has proved a false prophet. Yet he expects the people to trust him again.

The black list of the Southern Pacific railroad, comprising the roster of accidents and tragedies occurring on its lines since the 1st of January is appalling. The number of wrecks in eight months and a half were no less than thirty-eight, not including the one that happened last Sunday at East Oakland. Thirty were caused by carelessness. As a result of these collisions, derailments and breakdowns, twenty people were killed and seventy were injured, or, bringing the total up to date, seventy-two were hurt, with a chance that the additional ones may have yet to be written on the death list.

During the fair sports at Albuquerque, Charles Collins, while making a forty-five-foot dive into a pool of water only four feet in depth failed to make the turn and lay in the water as if dead. He was pulled out, and it was found that his back was broken. He died the next day. His partner, Prof. Zeno, the aeronaut, was injured, and had a very narrow escape from death, while making an ascension. The parachute loosened unexpectedly, and Zeno fell helplessly, with his feet entangled, until within a few feet of the ground when the parachute opened, and though the balloonist struck the ground with great force, he escaped without fatal injury.

Hon. F. T. Aspinwall has sold his interest in the Kingman drugstore to J. T. Pendegast and will leave on this afternoon's train for San Francisco, where he will embark for Quito, the capital city of Ecuador.

The Democrats object to the use of the term "Republican Prosperity". The Democrats are great at objecting, but so long as the fact is in evidence the people will not quarrel with the name. Nevertheless it was the Republicans that framed an intelligent system of protection and encouragement for domestic employments that stood in need of it, and which promised to expand into important proportions on account of it. This policy, though fought by Democracy from the beginning, has not only put the United States in the front rank of manufacturing countries, but enabled it to conquer a steadily and rapidly enlarging market in the principal countries of the world.
